SIXTH CAVALRY HOLDS REUNION

Sixth Pennsylvania Cavalry here for Annual Reunion, Camp Fire and Tour of the Battlefield. Will Visit Monument.

The survivors and friends of the Sixth Pennsylvania Cavalry arrived this afternoon for the annual reunion and tour of the battlefield. There are about fifty in the party and they are staying at Hotel Gettysburg.

The command which was recruited from Philadelphia and vicinity makes annual pilgrimages to Gettysburg and holds a camp fire as part of its celebration. This year a similar meeting will be held but the place has not been announced. The monument of the regiment along the Emmitsburg road will be visited and a brief ceremony will in all probability be held.

The Sixth Pennsylvania Cavalry participated in the battle on the Third Day fighting from the old McAllister woodland up to the Emmitsburg road. In the engagement at Fairfield they lost very heavily and a year or more ago dedicated a marker near that town in commemoration of the engagement.

The command will stay here until Sunday evening in battlefield trips and enjoying reminiscences.

PLANK PITCHES REMARKABLE GAME

Gettysburg Veteran Goes Nineteen Innings in Fine Style only to Lose through Error of Collins. Praised by Papers.

Gettysburg's base ball fans are having big discussions today over Eddie Plank's feat of pitching nineteen innings against Washington on Friday and then losing through an error by Collins 5 to 4. Philadelphia papers are full in their praises of Eddie and a few clippings will be enjoyed.

The Inquirer says: "For sixteen consecutive innings they had struggled against the masterly pitching of Edward Gettysburg Plank, of southpawing propensities, and succeeded in amassing nothing but a series of batted hopes and blasted ambitions. Edward went the entire distance in faultless style, permitting but four scattered bingles in the thirteen consecutive rounds following the second, the visitors nicking him for one hit in each of the four final periods of play, the only inning following the second in which they could even cluster two hits in two consecutive innings."

The Record says: "Plank rounded out his best year in major league captivity by dominating the fray from the slab for the entire course of the conflict. The visitors lunched five hits in the first two innings and made their first four runs. Then Eddie began to toil and had it been left to his efforts to decide the final outcome they might be still playing, for he blanked the aliens with six hits for sixteen eventful innings and it was a hurried chuck by Eddie Collins, zealous to complete a double play, that allowed Walter Johnson to ramble over the plate with the winning run, with only one hit, a lucky hit, helping to produce it. Plank outpitched both Groome and Johnson and deserved to win, if any pitcher ever did."

The Press contributes this: "Edward S. Plank, the Athletics' veteran southpaw, indelibly inscribed his name on the roll containing the few great heroes of baseball yesterday afternoon at Shibe Park."

"True, Edward was defeated by Washington in a nineteen inning game, which was gruelling for the athletes and replete with thrills for the spectators during the three hours and fifty seven minutes consumed in its completion. But no general who faced an army with the odds against him, ever went down to defeat with more plaudits from the spectators, be they friend or foe, than did Plank yesterday."

"Plank is just finishing his twelfth season with the Athletics. During those twelve years the man who came to Connie Mack from Gettysburg College a raw recruit, has been the central figure in many notable battles. Yet it remained for his 'old age'—in a base ball sense—to find his left arm possessed of the strength and cunning necessary to pitch nineteen long and nerve-wrecking innings."

SUCCESSFUL BOOKS

Professor Sanders' new book, a translation of Höffding's Brief History of Modern Philosophy, has just appeared from the press. (The MacMillan Co.) The announcement of its publication in the Fall lists of college text books has already resulted in considerable inquiry and demand for it for College classes. Prof. Sanders' previous book, published about eighteen months ago, has been introduced as the class text in some thirty colleges and universities in the United States and in a number of schools in England. The demand for the book was so great that a reprint was required within twelve months and a second has already become necessary.

MANY WENT TO PHILADELPHIA

Two Hundred and Twenty Six Board-ed Philadelphia Excursion Train at Gettysburg. Low Rate and Foot Ball Game Attractive.

Two hundred and twenty six Gettysburg people went to Philadelphia on this morning's excursion which had for its special attractions the zoological gardens and the foot ball game between Gettysburg College and the University of Pennsylvania. The college team the college band and a number of students went along on this excursion in preference to the regular train.

Among the people from town who took advantage of the low rate were: Earl McClellan, W. M. Conover, Luther Deatrick, Rev. S. F. Snyder, Samuel Cox, Arthur Taughinbaugh, John Rupp, D. F. Steffy, Rev. A. R. Wentz, Mrs. L. L. Sieber, John Good, I. Allen Holtzworth, Mrs. W. A. Taughinbaugh, Miss Minerva Taughinbaugh, Mrs. E. H. True, Miss Frances Fritchey, Mrs. Charles H. Huber, Miss Ruth Annan Donald Coover, Mr. and Mrs. Mahlon Hartzell, Mr. and Mrs. Frank R. Peckman, Harold Spangler, Paul Spangler, John Blocher, Ralph Weaver, Mr. and Mrs. John W. Burd, Miss Olive Hoke, Joshua Bain, John Kimple, Miss Galdys VanCleave, Mrs. G. H. Buehler and two sons, Edgar Miller.

The college team left with high hopes of making a good showing against Pennsylvania. The local team has an experienced line and a new back field while Penn has exactly the opposite condition with which to contend and local supporters placed their hopes on Gettysburg's ability to break up Penn's plays through tearing her line to pieces.

WORKING OUT ECLIPSE

The Harrisburg Star Independent says: "John L. Kendeletart, stenographer to Secretary McAfee at the State Department, is somewhat of a mathematician along astronomical lines. While at college he conceived the idea of working out the next eclipse of the moon, which it was known would be along some time, and he set to work with such skill and accuracy that he was able to announce the event to the fraction of a minute, and the subsequent eclipse bore him out in his calculations. It takes some 'figgering' to work out an eclipse, to say nothing of time, application and worry over whether the calculation is going to be borne out by subsequent events."

KILLS THREE AND HIMSELF

Sisters and Brother Shot by Aged Recluse Near York.

OLD SCORE THE CAUSE

Man is Slain at Churn in Barn and Women While at Work Sewing in the House.

York, Pa., Sept. 28.—John Caskey, sixty years old, who has been living as a recluse for some years near New Market, this county, killed Frank Hendrix, forty-five years old; his two sisters, Emma and Hester Hendrix, each more than fifty years old, and then turned the revolver upon himself, sending a bullet through his head, which caused his death shortly afterward.

Caskey had been living on the Hendrix property, and it is believed that he murdered the Hendrix family to pay off an old score. A note found near the murderer's body said that he had ended his life because of ill health.

Caskey's body was found on the rear porch of a brother's house at New Market. A jury of inquest was summoned, and while it was investigating the death word came that the bodies of the Hendrix family were discovered.

Frank Hendrix was shot while he was at work at a churn in the barn, and his sisters were killed while they sat quietly sewing at home. When found each woman had a thimble on her finger. Death in each instance had been caused by a bullet that penetrated the forehead. The shot that killed Caskey had entered at a similar point.

The jury decided that the Hendrix trio had been murdered and that the evidence indicated that Caskey was the murderer. In one of Caskey's pockets three cartridges of 38-caliber, the same size found in the bodies of the Hendrix family, were discovered. The inquest was conducted by Justice of the Peace Grant McCullough, of Baltimore county, Md.

Despite the finding of the jury, there is a rumor current that the four persons in the tragedy were murdered by a fifth person, who escaped.

MILITIAMEN ARRESTED

Captain and Private Accused of Shooting Man to Death.

Jackson, Mich., Sept. 28.—Charged with murder in the first degree, Captain Frank L. Blackman and Private Howard Jackson, all of the state militia, which guarded the Jackson prison during the recent convict trouble, were arrested in connection with the death of John Elsy, a Syrian sexton.

A coroner's jury recently returned a verdict to the effect that Elsy was shot to death and that Blackman and Jackson were responsible. The fatality occurred at midnight several weeks ago, while Elsy, it is charged, was arguing with soldiers over the purchase of rifles.

Both soldiers claim they fired in self-defense. The men were immediately brought into court.

N. Y. REPUBLICANS NAME HEDGES

Nominated For Governor by State Convention.

ROOT ATTACKS ROOSEVELT

Declares Cries of Fraud Against Taft's Nomination Was Raised by "Unsuccessful Litigants."

Saratoga, N. Y., Sept. 28.—Job E. Hedges, New York lawyer, former deputy attorney general of the state, was nominated for governor by the Republican state convention.

In quick succession speeches were made presenting the names and merits of former Speaker of the Assembly James W. Wadsworth, Jr., Job E. Hedges and former Representative William S. Bennett, of New York; William H. Daniels, of Buffalo; P. W. Cullinan, of Oswego, former state excise commissioner, and Edgar T. Brackett, of Saratoga, former state senator.

As the balloting proceeded, scattered votes were cast for State Senator Harvey D. Hinman, of Binghamton, and Egbert Woodbury, of Jamestown. The first ballot resulted in no choice. Hedges' vote was 357, Wadsworth's 268, and Bennett's 156. Necessary for a choice, 508 votes.

The second ballot showed no material change. The third ballot showed marked Hedges gains, but no choice. Several delegates announced that they desired to make changes to Hedges when it was found that he was only about twenty votes short of a nomination. The changes were permitted, and Hedges was declared the convention's nominee for governor.

The convention held a night session, at which the platform was adopted, after a debate that was featured by a speech of Senator Elihu Root against Colonel Roosevelt.

When the vote was taken on Newcomb's amendment to the working man's compensation plank it was lost overwhelmingly, about six delegates voting with the senator. Newcomb then asked for the adoption of his amendment to the direct nominations plank to include state of fices.

There was applause when Senator Root took the platform and defended the plank against amendment.

The senator entered on the first attack of Roosevelt he has ever made. Speaking impassionately he said first, that the nomination of Mr. Taft had been made by men honestly seated in the Chicago convention and that the cries of fraud had been raised by "unsuccessful litigants." Then, going out from his old home, where he had been protected and defended and honored this man had sought "to destroy his old home."

"No ambition or envy could prevent the party of Lincoln, of Grant, of Seward—aye, and of Roosevelt—from being true to its traditions," he declared.

For the most part the platform deals with state issues, but the tariff, woman's suffrage, the judiciary, working men's compensation and the prevention of corrupt practices in elections are national topics discussed. Under the heading, "Choice of Judges," the platform says:

"We denounce the proposal of the so-called Progressive party to choose judges because of their unknown views on matters likely to come before them for judicial action as a travesty upon courts of justice and a denial of the rights of every citizen."

This is the plank on woman's suffrage:

"We favor submitting to the voters in 1915 a constitutional amendment enfranchising women, unless a constitutional convention is held prior thereto, as hereinafter advocated."

In part the tariff plank says:

"The Republican party reaffirms its historic adherence to the principle of protection. So long as the Republican party is in power it will maintain a customs tariff under which duties shall be so adjusted as to protect the American manufacturer, the American farmer and the American workman against destructive foreign competition made possible by the low cost of foreign production."

A workmen's compensation law which will provide "a system of definite and certain compensation to the workmen for injury, based on the earning capacity of the injured and the extent of the injury," is favored.

Carpenters to Meet in Indianapolis.

Washington, Sept. 28.—By a vote of 198 to 196 Indianapolis was chosen over San Francisco for the 1914 convention of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners. Fifty ballots were necessary.

Federals and Rebels Dance Together. Juarez, Mex., Sept. 28.—Federal and rebel soldiers dance in the same halls at Casas Grandes, which is held by government forces, and there seems to be no effort by federals in the district to check the rebel raids.

Heed the Warning!

Backache is the signal that kidney diseases are nigh. Who doesn't dread the advanced stages of kidney trouble—Bright's disease, dropsy and gravel?

But to-day throughout America there are tens of thousands suffering the torments of hopeless agony just because they failed to heed the first signal, the certain warning of future misery—backache.

Backache means that your kidneys are weak.

Stop kidney disease at the start, that's the easiest way, and Thompson's Barosma is the surest remedy. People's and Huber's Drug Stores sell it, and are willing to guarantee it to stop backache, headache and sharp, shooting pains, and to cure Bright's disease, and any and all kidney, liver and bladder trouble, or money back.

It is a great maker of pure blood, and a builder of flesh, because it promptly cleans the kidneys and puts them in such perfect condition that the impurities are thoroughly strained from the blood as it passes through, and are promptly eliminated with the urine. Thompson's Barosma is only 50 cents and $1.00 a bottle.

REMOVABLE YOKES ARE BEST

Decided Economy in the Matter of Laundry When There is a Baby in the House.

Yokes on baby's dresses soil more quickly than any other part of the little frocks; therefore a clever woman has launched the idea of making detachable yokes that can be put over a plain slip, taken off and easily laundered when soiled.

These are made very much on the order of the lace and linen collars worn by baby's mother; but they button in the back with tiny washable buttons, either lace or plain linen.

One dainty yoke is made of alternate strips of fine tucking and narrow lace insertion. The pattern over which it is cut is exactly like a square sailor collar that opens in the back.

There is no seam on the shoulders; the strips of lace and tucking extend over the shoulders three inches back and front from that point. A narrow lace edge finishes the yoke on the outer edge and also at the neck and band. When worn, it is attached to the dress by two small gold pins, one on each shoulder.

Fine linen handkerchiefs, embroidered and edged with lace or a narrow hemstitch, can be made into the daintiest little yokes imaginable. Cut from the center a circle three inches in diameter, then fold the handkerchief over once and cut through the fold on one side to the neck opening. Face the strips of linen, sew small buttons and work buttonholes on the opening, then whip a narrow lace edge around the neck, and the yoke is ready to adorn the dress of your infant son or daughter.

The failures in poultry culture are no more common than any other commercial activities, and are usually traceable to a want of proper knowledge of its requirements.

You are most cordially invited to call and look the stock over.

"No trouble to show goods."

Prices reasonable and to suit all.

Other Vocations.

"How many graduated from Yellvard this June?"

"Five hundred and ten."

"All going into professional baseball, I suppose?"

"Not at all," retorted the dean peevishly.

"That sort of talk is becoming offensive. We have two men who expect to be doctors and one man who is going into his father's hardware store."

Her Purpose.

Lady—I ventured to call on you for your opinion, professor. Do you think it would do my son good to study the piano?

Famous Pianist—Does he show any taste for it?

Lady—Not the least. But his hair has been falling out so much lately and everything else we have tried has done no good at all!—Punch.

How Soon They Forget.

"Your line offers few luxuries."

"We subordinate everything to safety," said the agent. "Just consider our safety appliances."

"But this ship has no shuffleboard."

"True."

"No squash court."

"No. Would you rather risk your life?"

"Well, I guess I'll take a chance."

WHERE.

Jinks—I see a judge says that a woman may bring an action for slander if, being 35 or over, she is called an old maid.

Blinks—Yes, but where is the old maid who will admit that she's 35 or over?

Knew the Symptoms.

His wife cooed a loving note, in most bewitching way.

He drew his check-book from his coat and said, "How much today?"

What It Was.

"I think times must be getting better."

"I haven't noticed any improvement."

"Neither have I, but it appears to me that the book agents have been more numerous recently than usual."

That's a sign.

"No, you're wrong. That's no sign; it's a nuisance."

All Alike.

"They tell me that your small boys says some unusually clever things."

"Yes, yes. Did you hear his latest?"

"Sure."

"Why, you never met him."

"True. But I've met a lot of doting fathers who invariably tell the same old silly tales."

High Finance.

"Charley, dear," said young Mrs. Tokins, "did you say those blue chips were worth a dollar apiece?"

"Yes."

"Well, here is a whole boxful that I got for ninety-eight cents with some other colors thrown in."

ORTIE M'MANIGAL.

Confessed Dynamiter Ready to Testify at Trials.

M'MANIGAL IN INDIANAPOLIS

Confessed Dynamiter Hidden Pending Appearance in Trials.

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 28.—Ortie E. McManigal, the confessed dynamiter and chief government witness against the fifty-one defendants in the dynamite trials which open here on Monday, has been secretly lodged in the federal building.

This announcement was officially made by the United States marshal's office. McManigal, it was announced, arrived in Indianapolis some time during the night and was taken to the quarters that had been fitted up especially for his occupancy in the post office building.

The transportation charge, $1.70 a ton, on most of the family grades should be reduced to 86¢ cents a ton, they believe, and the retailer should not be allowed more than $1 a ton for handling and delivering the product. They point out a possible saving of 10¢ per cent.

The attorney general's department and the state railroad commission, the investigators say, are empowered to abate discriminations, which, they set forth, are practiced in the transportation of coal, which is hauled to Port Richmond for export at a lower freight rate than to the yards of dealers.

"The full power of the municipal administration, if brought to bear upon the attorney general's department, would undoubtedly cause him to bring action to enforce section 1 of the act of May 31, 1907, which provides that:

"No discrimination in charges on facilities shall be made between transportation companies and individuals, or in favor of either, by abatement, drawback or otherwise."

Parker, who was a captain in the Seventy-fourth regiment, New York State Guard, had been in poor health for several months. He has been missing since Wednesday.

COAL SHOULD BE $4.70 TON, SAY EXPERTS

Report It Would be Fair Price in Philadelphia.

Philadelphia, Sept. 28.—Prepared sizes of hard coal should not cost the people of Philadelphia more than $4.70 a ton delivered in the cellar, according to a report submitted to Director Cooke by Professor Ward W. Pierson at the University of Pennsylvania, and Harry E. Bellis, a freight rate investigator, who have been probing the high prices of fuel used by the domestic consumer.

The transportation charge, $1.70 a ton, on most of the family grades should be reduced to 86¢ cents a ton, they believe, and the retailer should not be allowed more than $1 a ton for handling and delivering the product. They point out a possible saving of 10¢ per cent.
